Over the past 10 years, I have designed and delivered over hundreds of professional development training programs, inspired tens of thousands of students, faculty, staff, and external organizations, and coached and consulted hundreds of business leaders and their front lines. I am committed to helping others succeed in life at work and home.

Much of my success is attributed to my positive mental outlook, my assertiveness and Legacy Dream Team. Through Legacy Producers, my coaching, consulting, speaking & legacy production company, I've been able to help people discover their legacy, find fulfillment in life, increase productivity and share their legacy with others to the Nth degree!

I also serve as President of Rhino Living Training Group, CEO of My Internship Gopher, and Senior Internal Consultant for West Chester University. I enjoy inspiring students, staff and faculty through personal and professional development. My next book is expected to hit book shelves this spring—Chasing Stars while Living in the Sunshine.

One of my passions is guiding people towards discovering their full potential and giving them the skills they need to be successful in life. I have enjoyed living my legacy in both higher education and corporate environments. My education backs up my commitment to learning and appreciation of others. I graduated from Gettysburg College with majors in psychology and elementary education and enjoyed studying abroad—twice! I also completed my Masters in Training and Organizational Development from West Chester University and hold a Lean Six Sigma Certificate from Villanova University.

Today is your day to discover, share and produce your legacy to the Nth degree!
